

DOWNHOLE MAGNETIC FIELD-BASED FEATURE DETECTOR

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus that is usable with a subterranean well includes a magnetometer and a circuit. The magnetometer indicates a strength of a magnetic field that at least partially 5 extends through a portion of a downhole pipe. The circuit is coupled to the magnetometer to indicate a feature present in the pipe based on the indication from the magnetometer.

1002221 5882001